COMMUNICATING BETWEEN ZONES OF A CENTRAL PROCESSING COMPLEX

Abstract

Data is moved between zones of a central processing

5 complex via a data mover located within the central processing complex. The data mover moves the data without sending the data over a channel interface and without employing processor instructions to perform the move.

Instead, the data mover employs fetch and store state

10 machines and line buffers to move the data.

POU919980103US1